

Green Dog Pregnancy Safety

You are pregnant, congratulations! You can begin a dialogue with your supervisor about safety during your pregnancy by voluntarily declaring that you are pregnant. You may do so by reaching out directly to your supervisor via SLACK, then completing the form your supervisor will provide to you.

Some occupational hazards may exist in Green Dog clinics that you should discuss with your healthcare provider. These include radiation, waste anesthetic gasses (WAGs), zoonotic diseases (including toxoplasmosis), and hazardous chemicals. However, Green Dog's safety protocols, which include engineering controls, safe work practices/policies, administrative controls, and personal protection equipment, help prevent and control these hazards. You should strictly adhere to Green Dog's safety policies. You are encouraged to call Green Dog's management team if you have any safety related questions.

You are strongly encouraged to request a fetal dosimeter for the monitoring of radiation during your pregnancy. Green Dog will make every reasonable effort to accommodate any healthcare provider's restrictions.

Pregnancy Declaration Example:

In accordance with the Nuclear Radiation Commission's regulations at 10 CFR 20.1208, "Dose to an Embryo/Fetus", I am declaring that I am pregnant. I believe I became pregnant in the month of _____ 20____ (month and year).

I understand that the radiation dose to my embryo during my entire pregnancy should not be allowed to exceed 0.5 rem (5 millisievert- mSv) (unless that dose has already been exceeded between the time of conception and submitting this letter). I also understand that meeting the lower dose limit may cause a change in job or job responsibilities during my pregnancy.

In addition, by signing below, I acknowledge that I have received, read, and understand all the material that was provided to me about potential exposure risks to my unborn child.
