

Green Dog Review Process:

We believe that all employees at every level of the organization should have a clear vision of How they contribute to Green Dog, Where they stand with their team, and What they can do to grow and advance in the company.

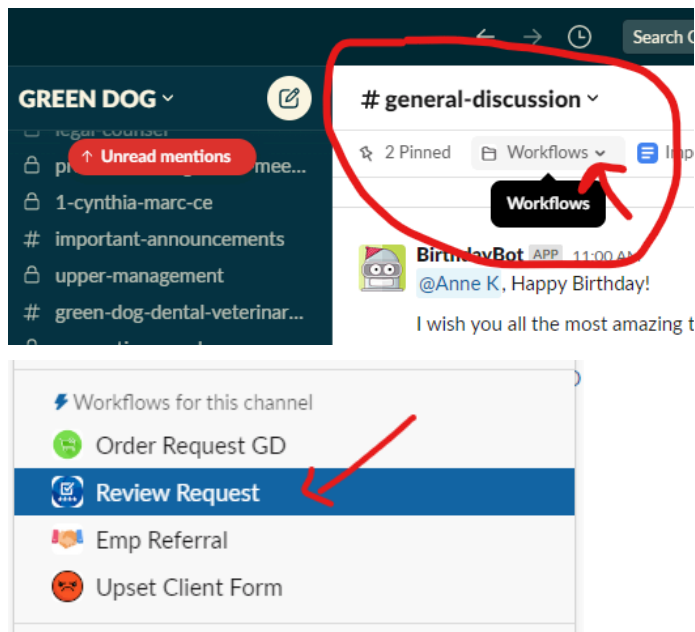

Informal check-ins should be frequent. These casual discussions about progress, successes, and areas of improvement are expected to occur as needed and are not restricted to a formal process.

However, there is no substitute for a face-to-face conversation about your Goals. We encourage all employees to check-in with leadership to discuss goals. Goals can be educational, monetary, or skill-based. They should also be specific and plans to achieve them should be the priority.

There are different types of reviews that can be expected at Green Dog.

1) Self Check-In

- a) You must want it for yourself, first. The self check-in is an employee initiated review with a manager.
- b) You initiate this process by selecting the Request Review option in the #GeneralDiscussions group in SLACK.

- i) Once completed, input forms will be sent out to some co-workers
- ii) Once we have some feedback, (about 10 days) your manager will follow up with you and set a date to sit down.

2) Performance Reviews

In the event an employee has not initiated a “self-review” in a long time, Management may initiate a performance review.

- a) Performance reviews are to ensure that we sit down at least once a year and discuss your goals and progress.
- b) You will receive an online form to fill out to start your review.
- c) Once completed, input forms will be sent out to some co-workers
- d) Once we have feedback, your manager will follow up with you and set a date to sit down and discuss.
- e) These reviews do not take place exactly one year from your hire date or at the end of the year. They will typically occur once every 12-18 months.

3) Compensation Adjustments

- a) Green Dog primarily adjusts compensation in two (2) ways:

i) General Adjustments

Green Dog typically assesses the compensation of employees who have been employed more than 12 months.

This typically (but not always) happens around the end of a fiscal year.

Green Dog will review objective and subjective factors to determine compensation increases on an employee-by-employee basis.

(a) Attendance and Professionalism are weighed heavily.

Changes will be presented to employees and a formal document will be signed formalizing the compensation change.

ii) Role or Responsibility Change Compensation Adjustments

If an employee takes on a new role and performs well enough to remain in that role, Green Dog may adjust that employee's compensation in a reasonable time period consistent with the assumption and performance of new duties.

- iii) There may be other occasions where a compensation adjustment is warranted. This policy does not explain all possible occasions.
